Deep expansive moods
etched lightly on young faces . . .
optimism radiating from enthusiasm
the agony of disappointment the hesitancy of pensiveness determination spurred by confidence . . .
human emotion forever tells of the struggle to achieve.
Moods portray the fabric of character so carefully woven by our educators to blossom into the consequence of tomorrow.

Waning thoughts made strong through strength of mind and confidence.

Steadfastly creeping forward reaching out to touch the elusive only to fall, deflated.

Youthful spirits bubbling bursting forth
in unrestrained eagerness.

What is hope
but slender ropes attached to your dreams.

Will stay on the Side of law & order—
You too!

Be good & have a nice summer

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

PTA & COMMUNITY

PTA activities began early in the year with the impressive opening of our football stadium. Many were present to share the dramatic moment when our lights, for which our community had worked so hard, were first turned on. During the ceremony Congressman Broyhill presented an American flag to our school.

Many parents attended the annual Back-to-School Night, where they were familiarized with the modern educational techniques employed at Jefferson.

There were also regular PTA meetings to discuss problems of mutual concern to parents and the school.

Speaking for the students of Jefferson, we would like to express our gratitude for such a fine community and the time and resources so generously given to us by its members.

OUR PRINCIPAL

TO THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1966

I am happy to have the opportunity to write a brief message to you, the first graduating class of Thomas Jefferson High School.

I know that your high school career has not been an easy one, in that you have not been able to settle down in one school and know that this would be "your" school for four years. You have, however, played a very important role in the establishment and development of our new school, and I want to express my appreciation to all of you for your efforts in behalf of Jefferson High.

I am happy that so many of you have made plans to further your education in one way or another. Life in this period of time is getting more and more complicated, and I feel that the more knowledge we have, about as many areas of living as possible, the happier will be our lives.

Regardless of your plans, however, I am certain that all of you will have the opportunity to live happy, successful lives if you are willing to work to this end.

We hope that you feel that your high school career has been successful and that you now feel ready for the next big step in your life. I know that I speak for all of your teachers, as well as myself, when I wish you the very best of everything. Please come back to see us, and let us know whenever we can be of further service to you.

William H. Jordan
Principal

WILLIAM JORDAN
B.A., Bridgewater
M.Ed., University of Va.
Principal

Mr. Jordan concentrates intently at one of our home football games.

Let me congratulate the Senior Class of 1966 upon achieving their goal for which they have been working for the past twelve years.

I wish, also, to congratulate the entire student body for having a part in the opening of this fine school. Yes, we have had problems, and we have not all thought alike on every project but we have been able to work them out to the best interests of all concerned.

I was delighted when your Principal, Mr. William Jordan, asked me to come here with him and have a part, small as it may be, in opening this new and wonderful high school. It is with no small feeling of regret that I must retire and turn my part of this work over to others, but after forty-four years of work in the public schools of Virginia I think it is about time to step aside and let others take over. My first high school had six graduates, the Class of '66 has about 350, so you know I have seen the school systems grow.

This session closes twenty years of school in Fairfax County. The last two years have been with you here at Jefferson High School.

You have wonderful possibilities to grow into a great school and I am looking forward to seeing you become one of the best if not the best schools in the area.

With the end of this session I am retiring from public school work and with this I say goodbye and may the richest blessings be yours in the years to come.

WILL H. BARRETT

SO LONG, MR. BARRETT AND GOOD LUCK -

YOU'VE COME A LONG WAY

The snapshot above, from Mr. Barrett's scrapbook, shows Church View, Va., High School, the first accredited high school of which he was principal. The left building was the elementary school, organized in those days (1923) as part of the high school.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL FOR INSTRUCTION

The average student did not have many opportunities to meet or work with Mr. Bernard, our quiet Assistant Principal for Instruction. Much of the behind-the-scenes administrative work here at Jefferson was arranged in his office. Because of his efforts each of us can be assured that we have the best schedules, textbooks, art supplies and other teaching facilities available to high school students.

ADMINISTRATIVE AIDE

The clamorous activity was brought to a hushed standstill as the PA began to pour forth its usual stream of announcements. These cryptic messages were perhaps the most intriguing part of the day due to the interesting linguistic skill of Mr. Visnich. With his unique pronunciation, unorthodox pauses, and "Please repeat" endings, he provided a varied beginning and ending to the day. Through announcements and his numerous other activities, such as holding conferences and phoning parents, sending out little green slips, chaperoning social functions and cheering at sports events, Mr. Visnich was a well-known figure at Jefferson.

With over 9,500 books on the shelves, the library was certainly a widely used facility of our school. Open from before school until the departure of the activities bus in the afternoon, the library was always filled with students doing research work, homework assignments or recreational reading. The smooth and efficient running of the library would not have been possible without the enthusiastic service of our assistants.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

A conglomeration of students piled nosily into buses exclaiming enthusiastically of Catholic University's production of "The Birds." The students vastly enjoyed such field trips to local universities and theatres and to the National Gallery of Art, sponsored by the English Department.

The department aimed to teach the student to read and listen with understanding; to think rationally; to speak and write well; to appreciate literature and language; and to be prepared to take his place as an active citizen of the community.

At the senior level an Advanced Placement course was inaugurated with twenty-one students enrolled. Two classes in American Civilization, combining the correlated study of English and History, were offered to interested juniors. Next year a course in World Civilization will be initiated at the sophomore level. It is hoped that within the next two years enrichment courses in the humanities and world literature will be included in the English curriculum.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES DEPARTMENT

Endeavoring to impart the traditional skills of communications necessary even in the modern world of today, the Foreign Languages Department offered courses in Latin, French, German, and Spanish. Class instruction was augmented by frequent visits to the well-equipped language laboratory for group practice and individual response. Native songs, pictures, reports, and presentations by visiting speakers all made the language more meaningful to us. Extracurricular clubs provided fun and additional opportunities.

A revolution in mathematics has taken place and the new math no longer seems so new. Teachers and students both have been successfully indoctrinated into its peculiarities.

Two new courses were offered this year: Matrix Algebra was replaced by Probability and Statistics, due to the expansion of the statistics field in our modern world, and the fifth year mathematics students enrolled in the new course called Analysis. To allow the students who had some difficulty in math to find themselves we offered courses in Algebra I and Algebra II. For those who had a very high mathematical ability Algebra II-Trigonometry and Functions provided rigorous exercises.

The mathematic's program was a broad, well-oriented one which provided for the needs and interests of Jefferson's students.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

With new faces and courses, this year's Science Department qualified as one of the most changed departments in Jefferson. PSSC Physics was added to the curriculum as our first seniors demanded broader horizons. Interesting experimental classes in SMS Biology were taught, along with the BSCS Green Biology course. To prepare Jefferson's novice scientists for future studies in PSSC, BSCS, and CHEM Study, the Earth Science curriculum was further refined. New teachers in the Science Department included Mr. Colson in Physics and Mrs. Cushing in Chemistry. With this larger staff and a better program we hoped to develop a deeper interest in science and the scientific method, by adopting the laboratory approach.

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

If we lived like hermits there would be no need for social studies in school but, since our individual actions affect others, it is essential that we study social subjects. By understanding peoples all over the world we will act more effectively in exercising our roles as citizens in our complex society. Close associations in our predominately urban society will require cooperation and compromises in all problems. If the Social Studies Department contributed to the development of citizens who can solve problems intelligently and peacefully both at home and in international affairs, it has done its job.

ART DEPARTMENT

The Art Department offered a four year program combining extensive studio work, art history, criticism, and the philosophy of art. The interrelationships of art with other subject areas became an important topic as the versatility of art was unfolded. With the improvement of individual creative growth as its guiding principle, the Art Department offered to those students who elected the full program a strong foundation for university training and an art career.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Besides encouraging students to obtain a knowledge of music, the Music Department provided an opportunity for us to develop the ability to work with others as a team toward a mutual goal—the best possible interpretation and performance of music.

Highlighted by an exchange trip with Pascack Hills High School Band of New Jersey the band's activities and services contributed much to the well-rounded extracurricular activities at Jefferson.

The choral groups gave numerous performances before both the school and the community for their enjoyment.

Among joint presentations by the bands and the choral groups were the Thanksgiving Assembly, the annual Christmas Concert, a spring variety show "Odds and Ends", and the annual Spring Concert.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

Learning how to become successful homemakers was the overall goal of the Home Economics Department. Cooking provided experience in menu planning, serving, wise buying and table etiquette. In clothing we related art principles to wardrobe selections and clothing construction. The study of other subjects, such as child growth and development, home safety, care of the sick, hospitality, and budgeting, all helped to increase our knowledge of the necessary skills for a modern homemaker. Three special events that highlighted the year were an exhibit and boutique of holiday gifts and decorations, a style show of garments made in class, and a beauty contest.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

Under the able leadership of an increased staff, the Business Department was greatly expanded this year. There was a much larger enrollment in business subjects as several additional courses were available. This reflected not only greater interest among vocational students, but also among college-bound students and those who sought an opportunity to improve their knowledge of the business world.

We were able to add a VOT/COP program this year, as well as Shorthand II, Business Economics, Business Law, and, as a related field, Distributive Education. Further expansion of the department and setting up a club for all interested students were planned for the future.

DE & VOT DEPARTMENTS

Representing the coordination of classroom study and on-the-job training, the Vocational Office Training students attended morning classes and were employed in an office capacity during the remaining part of the day. This program provided a means for acquiring practical training for a variety of office jobs, made it possible to combine a high school course with good preparation for work, and provided for job orientation so that employment after graduation would offer higher pay and faster promotions.

In the Distributive Education program students received classroom instruction directly related to a chosen business occupation in the retail, wholesale, or service fields. The work experience and training in part-time employment was aimed to prepare students for full-time employment in the field of distribution and the world of work.

HEALTH and PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

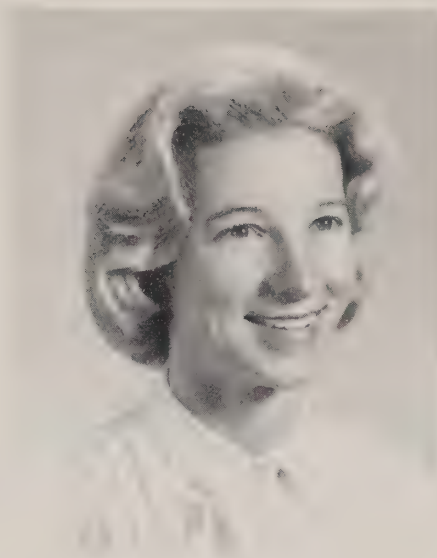

Standing as the symbol of sportsmanship, school spirit and unity, the Health and Physical Education Department served the students through class instruction, intramurals and interscholastic sports.

Class instruction offered a variety of team, dual and individual sports. The health and safety classes centered around driver education, first aid, personality, mental health, and personal and community health problems.

Opportunities for participation in many of the activities taught in the instructional program were provided through the intramurals.

The interscholastic sports program included competition in field hockey, basketball, and softball for the girls, and football, basketball, baseball, track and field, golf, tennis and wrestling for boys.

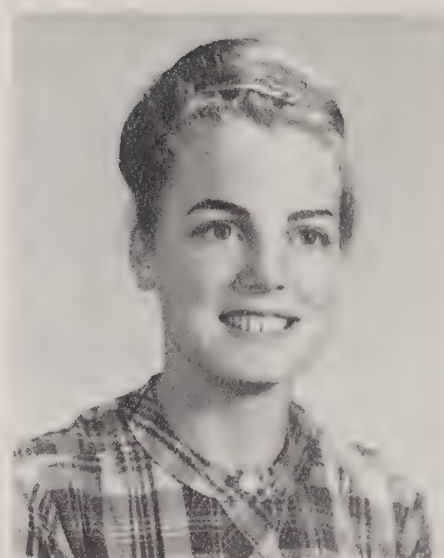

With the wide variety of activities the department hoped to meet the requirements and interests of all the students.

THE LEARNING EXPERIENCE

CLASSES

SENIORS

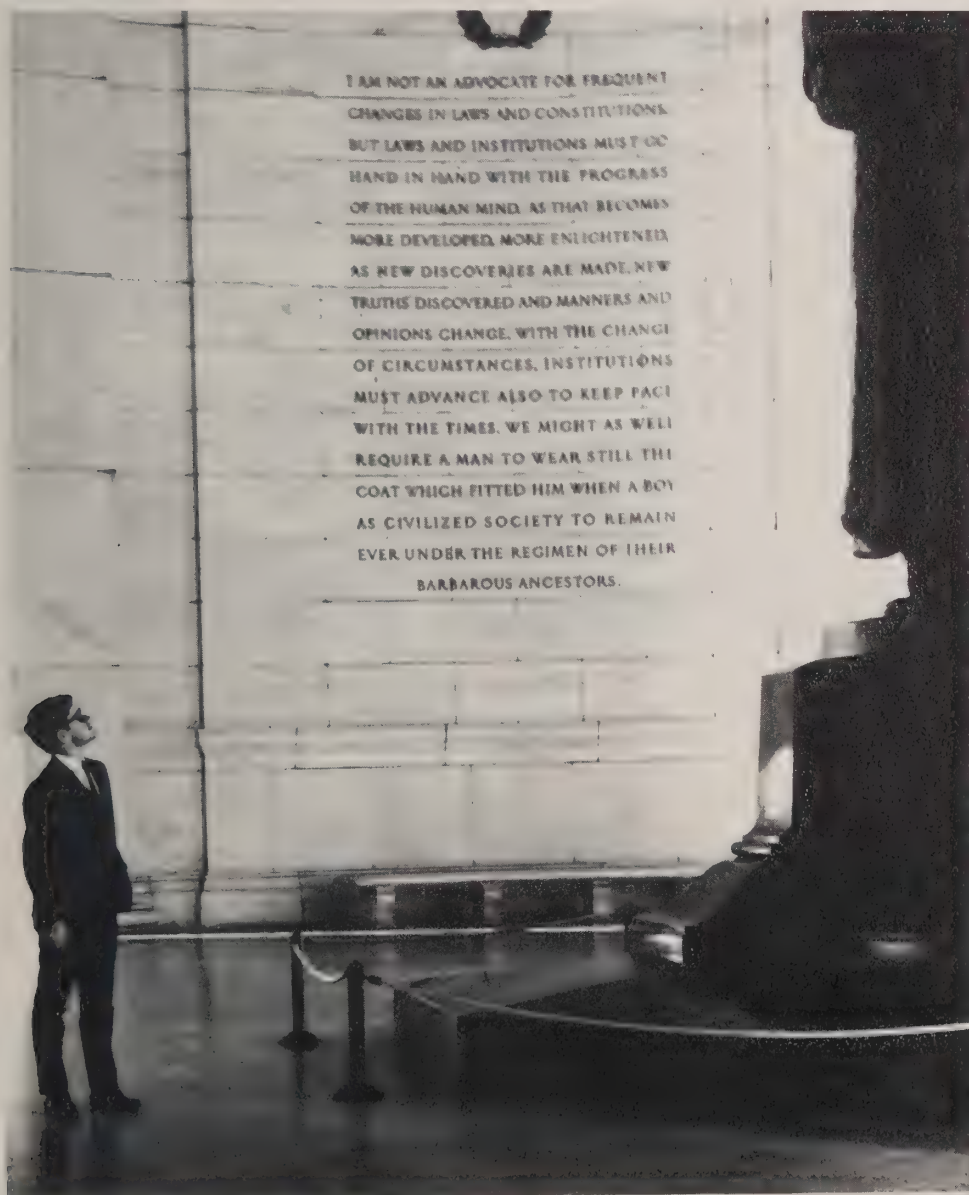

A whirling mass of mixed ideas, dabbling in new fields, serious decisions, but constantly rushing forward in a continuous effort to keep pace with the world. Memories too, of a final year, of happy moments . . . hordes of enthusiastic girls banded together in yelling, shouting, and good-natured fun for a victorious powder-puff football game . . . a Sadie Hawkin's Dance of dancing Dogpatch characters surrounded by yellow cornstalks, an evening of exuberant merriment . . . long hours of College Boards, blacking in little square boxes, filling out applications, the final decision, hope, a thin white envelope received in the mail . . . screaming cheerleaders, a wierd assortment of bright-colored figures, and our fabulous senior basketball team defeated the down-trodden junior class . . . the purchase of our class gift, a final tribute to Jefferson and a lasting memorial from its first graduating class . . . our prom, its grandeur and its auspicious atmosphere, shall retain a special place in our memories . . . dreams, visions floating on soft clouds . . . a crisp June morning, the sunny blue sky above and the newly fresh grass beneath our feet. In the bleachers exultant faces glowing with pride, white papers crackling in the soft breeze. Slowly the dark blue lines marched in cadence down the wide green aisle.

ALMA MATER

To Alma Mater, Jefferson Hi School,
Now once again we all will praises bring;
We sing to you, our Jefferson Hi School, and let our voices ring!
Though we may not now understand fully
All of the things we studied here so long,
Each day in life new truth we'll discover,
And then renew our song:
Jefferson, Jefferson, sing we together;
Friendship and mem'ry in our hearts will burn;
Jefferson, Jefferson, hold us together,
Lest we forget you, until we return!

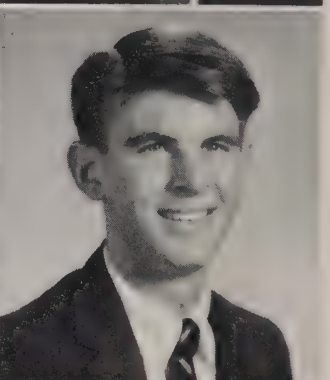

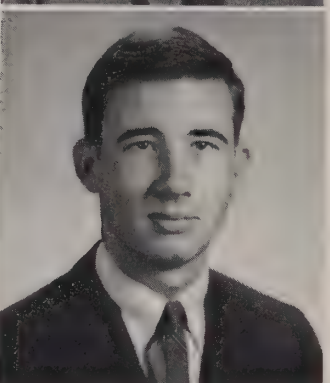

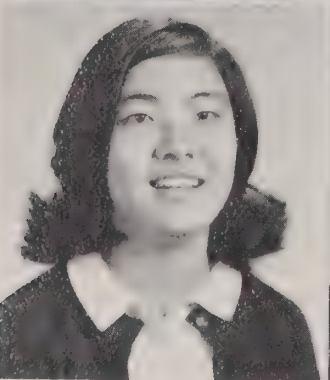

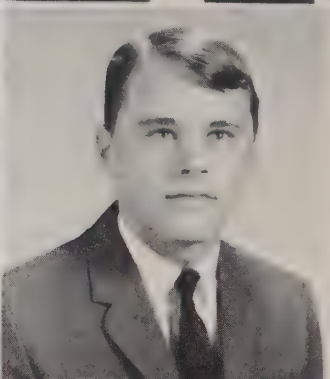

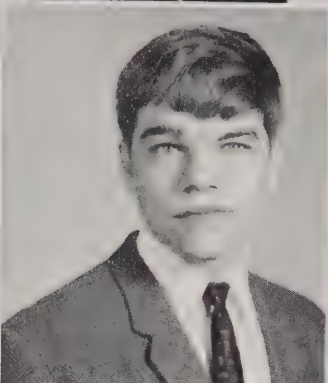

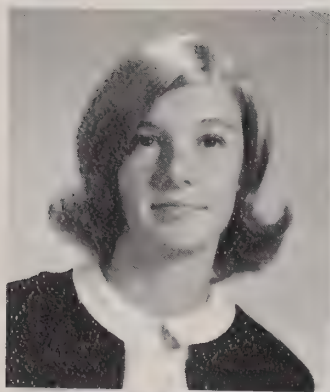

JUNIORS

It was a year unlike any other . . . the long months, so seemingly slow in passing, were crammed full of studying and good times . . . faint after-visions of the all important PSAT tests lingered to trouble our dreams . . . days and weeks of practice, bumped knees and noses, and a hodge-podge of girls traipsing madly over the rut-filled field, desperately memorizing plays—the result? A well-played (?) powderpuff football game! Although we lost, the enthusiasm and teamwork was prodigious. Just how would you have described our patriotic cheerleaders? Oh, and remember the whipped cream; and the “injured” incident? Yes, it was a fun game . . . a miracle of wire and crepe paper, our float depicting class rings won first in the Fall Festival . . . for the enjoyment of all (and to raise funds), we presented “The Angry Sea”, a spectacular film-narration on surfing . . . was it staged, that battle between the classes at the annual Junior-Senior Basketball game? You would never have thought so to see all those “strange” people running about! Anyway, it was all fun! Who did you say won? Hmmm . . . as one of our class service projects we presented the school with a sign identifying Jefferson High, to be placed at the entrance to the grounds . . . and perhaps the biggest event of the year—our prom . . . as June of 1966 rolls around recollections of the past year will be blended with our hopes and expectations of those to come . . .

Studying can be fun, especially when there's a vacant desk in front of you.

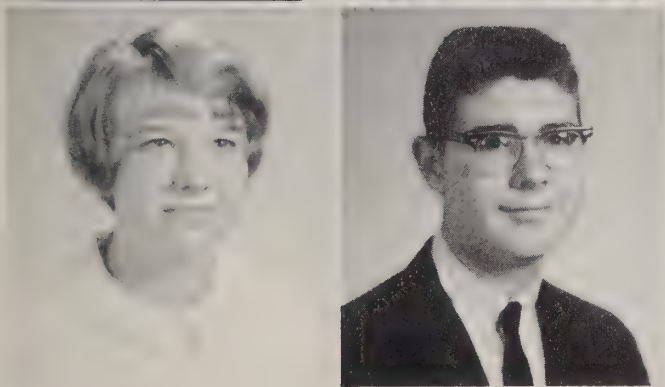

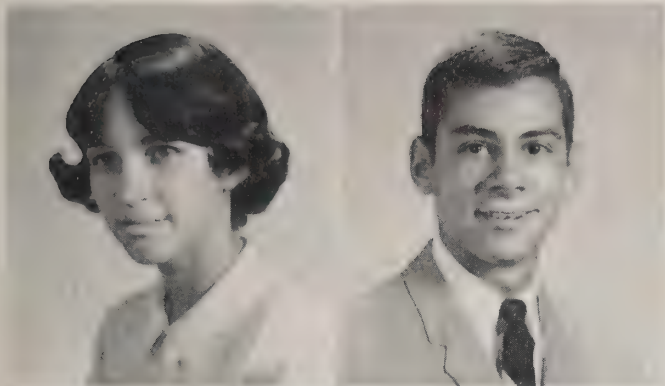

SOPHOMORES

Nancie Wrenn, Sen.; Pam Wolle, Treas.; Tommy Withers, Pres.; Ellen Harris, Vice-Pres.; Sally Scanlan, Sec.; Bob Helton, Sen.

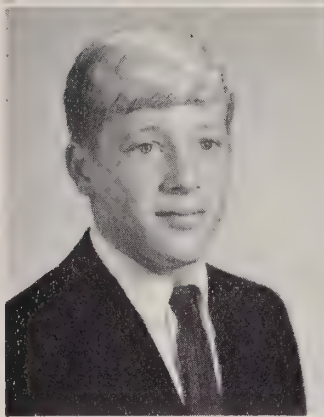

This year we gained an insight into the mysteries of life. Whether dissecting a frog or tramping through rainy woods for biology . . . discovering ancient Rome and its awesome splendor in the time of Shakespeare's Julius Caesar . . . analyzing three isosceles triangles in a plane . . . we found vast fields of study open to us.

To build up our class treasury we held several successful bake sales and two dances. We enjoyed the privilege of several dress-up days, and bought class cards to unite our class into a driving, working body, expectantly awaiting next year's challenges.

FRESHMEN

Gail Green, Sen.; Pat Erickson, Secy.; David Hall, Pres.; Patty Stevenson, Treas.; Debbie McDaniel, Sen.

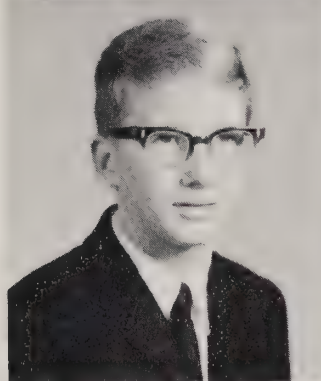

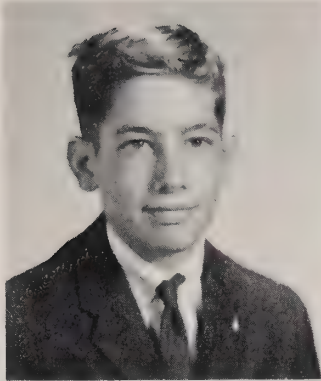

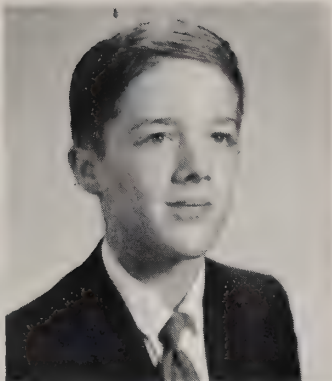

It was a year unlike any other; this year we became full-fledged high school students, full of spirit and vitality, ready to explore the ceaseless wonders of our world. The study of World Geography brought to life many unknown facets of unique cultures. Homer's The Odyssey similarly enriched our knowledge of man and his past.

But not all of the year was spent reminiscing over the past. Our first thrust into the future came with our overwhelming victory in the annual Magazine Drive. Securing first prize was a welcome boost to our treasury. Decked out in Levis and "Granny-dresses", many trooped to our first discotheque dance held early in December. The fun and good times of those participating radiated "for miles around." With best wishes we donated the proceeds to the Senior Class Prom.

Materialistic goals, however, did not completely dominate our attention. Participation in numerous sponsored activities was encouraged by the class officers. All worked energetically to establish a record of responsibility and service.

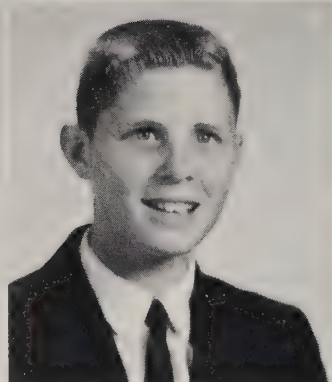

As the year ended, a quickening pace set the momentum for years to follow.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Things never quite got off the ground for the 1965 Jefferson football squad. Injuries to key players and the consequent lack of sustained offensive power led to a 0-10 season.

There were some bright moments when Jefferson looked like the team of old against Falls Church, as it twice threatened to score late in the fourth period, only to lose a heart-breaker, 7 to 6. Against Fairfax, Jefferson outplayed its opponent in every quarter; the game was highlighted by a 13-point comeback after being down 13 to 0 at halftime. The Colonials almost went on to win, but the closing drive ended 12 yards from the goal. The biggest game was against Annandale, number one team in the state. The Colonials held the high-geared Atoms scoreless for a period and a half in what could have been the biggest upset of the year. The defense was tremendous; four times during the game they threw the Annandale quarterback for big losses. But the Atoms weren't to be denied and went on to win; the never give-up attitude of the Colonial team won't be forgotten by either Annandale or the 1000-odd spectators who viewed the game.

This was the story of our football season, one which fell short, in many ways. One thing that was not lacking, however, was the determination of our boys, who always gave their best.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

"WHOO! WHOOP!" Echoed the roaring TJ crowd led by our enthusiastic cheerleaders . . . they did their best to promote spirit and good sportsmanship at varsity athletic competitions throughout the year. Selected last May on the basis of appearance, coordination, and cheering ability, the squad comprised nine seniors and one junior, eight of which had returned from last year. They displayed their loyal support throughout innumerable pep rallies and with their reassuring smiles.

FRESHMAN CHEERLEADERS

The freshman cheerleading squad, consisting of six girls chosen last year, tried hard to instill feelings of pride and unity in the freshmen class. Through many events, including class pep rallies, they let the Freshman teams know they were behind them all the way. The 9th grade cheerleaders felt it was a wonderful experience, and were proud to serve as Jefferson cheerleaders.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

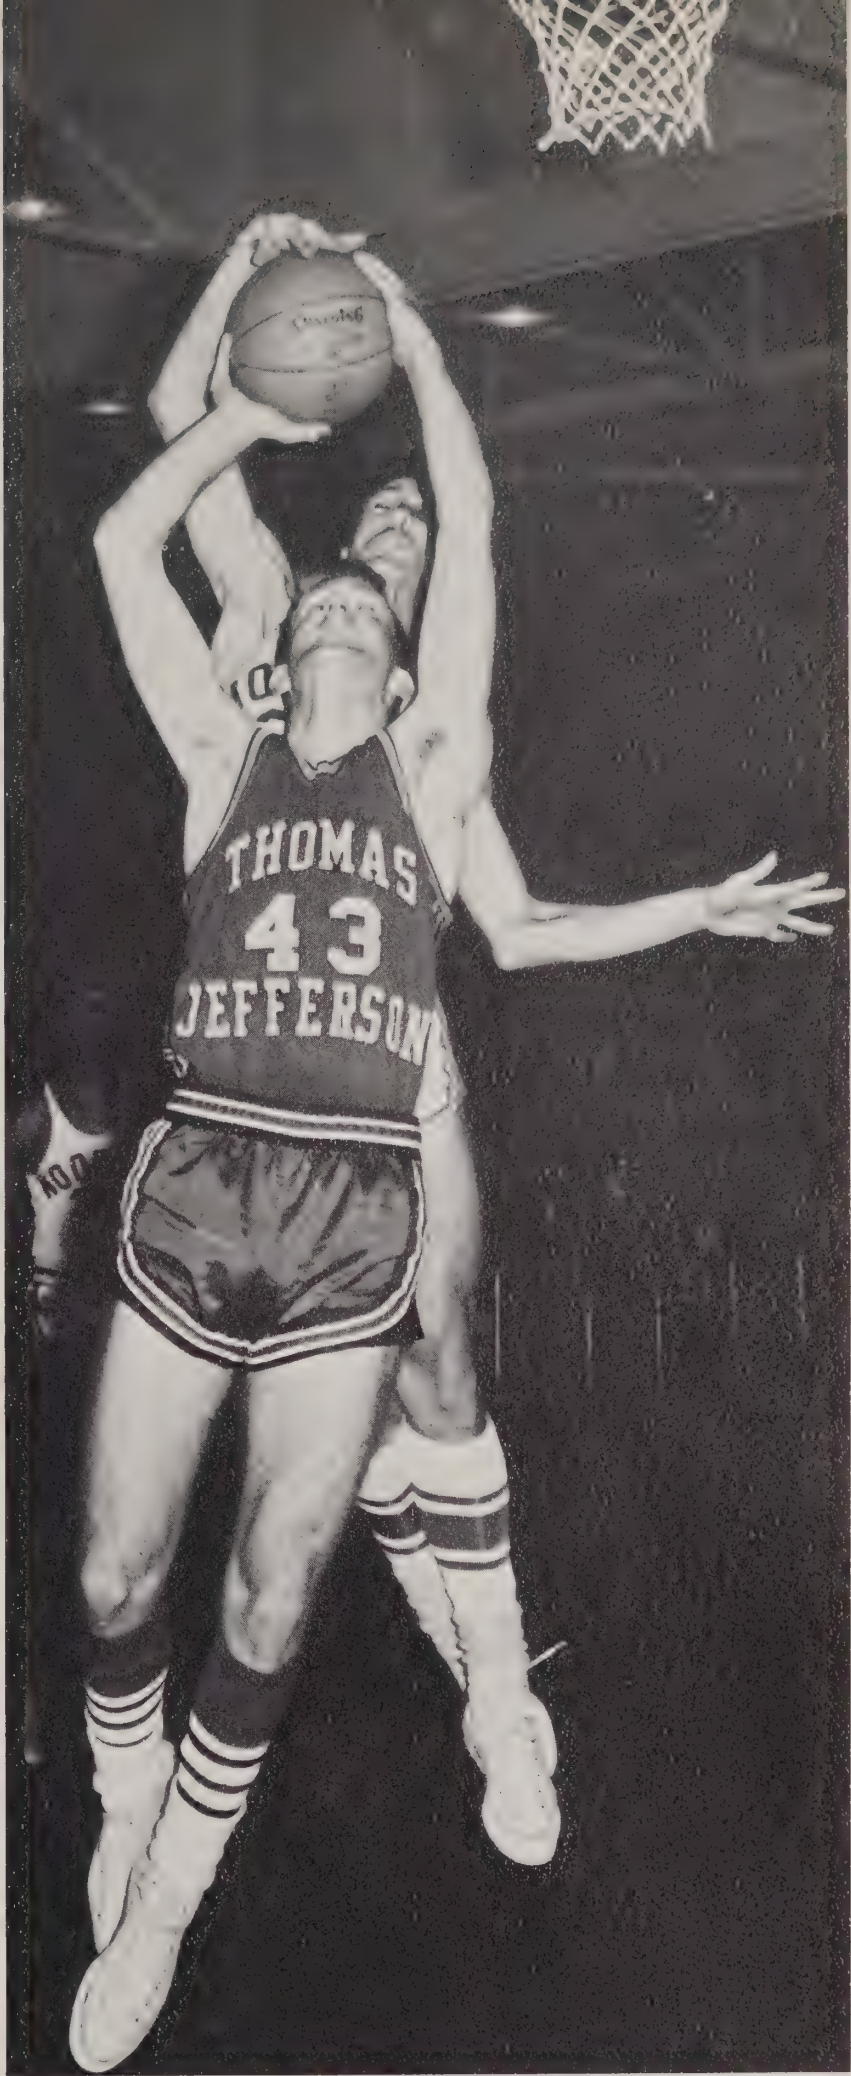

Jefferson's basketball Colonials did not quite come into their own this 1965-66 season. The team, whose record is by no means an indication of their ability, provided many exciting games for enthusiastic crowds.

The Jefferson-Lee encounter was a good example, with the Colonials winning in the remaining four seconds on Mike Glaser's jump shot. And then there was the disappointing 84-81 overtime during the first Jefferson-Farifax game, where the boys tried all the way. The highlight of the season, however, was the triple overtime against the Rebels where they took the 75-70 victory to end the regular season. Jim Andrews, who was out the last five games with mono, was chosen for the Northern Virginia District I-A second team.

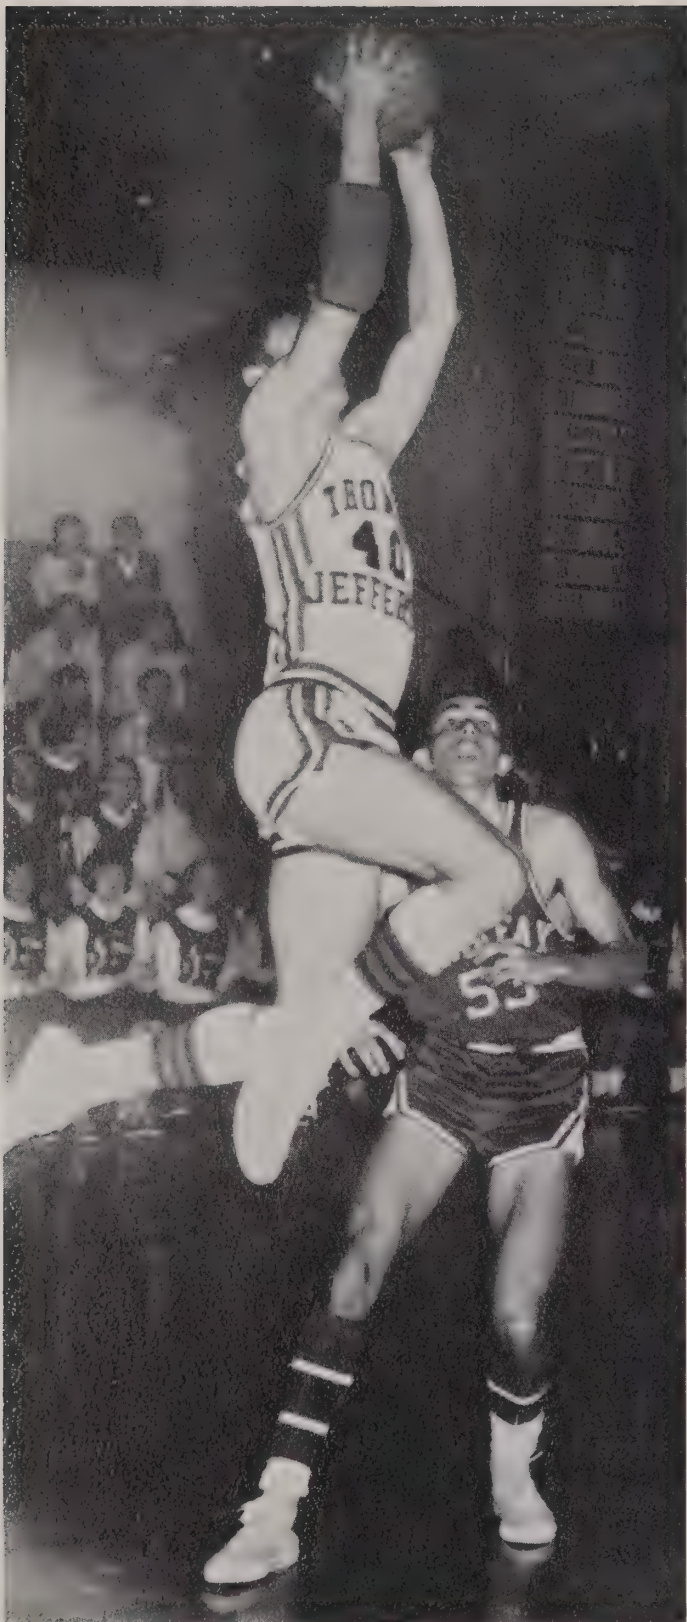

Prospects look better than ever for the upcoming varsity team because of this year's outstanding JV team.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

The JV Colonials played a spirited and sensational season, losing only two games out of a total of nineteen. To climax a victorious season the team won the Group I-A Championship by beating Madison 40-30 in the playoffs.

Much of the credit for this fine season belongs to Coach Hulen who gave the boys the spark which generated their excellent performance. With this potential, the team should meet our hopes for a fine team at the varsity level next year.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Jefferson's Freshman basketball squad had a commendable ten game season, with seven wins and only three losses. Coach Hewitt kept his sixteen member squad hustling every minute they were on the court, keeping their team spirit at a peak throughout the season. Prospects for the JV next year are very favorable with this fine group on the team.

Jefferson's Freshman basketball team was a real success story. They played ten games, winning seven and losing three. Coach Hewitt kept them hustling every minute they were on the court, and their team spirit was at a peak throughout the season. Prospects for the JV next year are very favorable with this fine group on the team.

WRESTLING

Our 1965-66 wrestling team was plagued by injuries and inexperience, due to losing almost half of last year's team.

Our hopes were greatly elevated by our first victory over Garfield, 46-8; but the other practiced wrestlers in the district soon showed us that without experience it would be a hard season. At the end of the regular season Jefferson had placed only above Madison; however, the Colonials ranked above ten teams in the competitive Northern District Tournament.

Anticipation for next year runs high, as three-fourths of this year's team will be returning, being much wiser for this year's experience.

TRACK

This year the Colonial track squad had high hopes of bettering our season's record. We were greatly encouraged by the return of many of last year's veterans and a host of new prospects who turned out to begin this year's campaign.

Under the direction of Coach Hess, we set a fast pace for the 1966 season. During the months of April and May the team competed in ten regular season meets and hoped to enter the Northern Virginia and Virginia State meets at the end of the season.

VARSITY BASEBALL

Coach Hulen's Colonials were still a young squad, but this year we had the added experience of a varsity season behind us. Although the squad was again filled with many juniors and sophomores, Coach Hulen expected to be in the running for the Northern District Championship.

We faced some tough competition as we battled many strong teams, but we relied on a strong infield and good pitching to win the games.

GOLF

Possibly the best golfers at Jefferson were assembled under Coach Stone's guidance for the varsity golf season.

The team, which participated in nine regular season golf matches, had hopes of competing in the Regional Playoff, the Virginia State Association Interschool matches, and the Northern Virginia Playoffs at the end of the regular season.

The returning veterans of last year's team assured a bright outlook for one of the best teams in northern Virginia.

TENNIS

Returning to the tennis team this season were many of last year's members, providing a tremendous asset to the team through the experience gained last year. Under the coaching of Mr. Christie we looked forward to a rewarding season of nine regular season matches.

The Northern Regional Tournament, May 2-6, and the Virginia State Tournament, May 13-14, were prime goals for us this year.

GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

The girls' varsity basketball team completed the season with seven wins and five losses. Co-captains Nancy Boice and Sidra Singer helped spark the girls' enthusiasm enabling them to win seven games. The team established a new single game scoring record of 51 points when playing Stuart. High scorers for the season were Nancy Boice with a 15.0 point average and Sidra Singer with a 12.5 average. Nancy Boice and Janet Polk were high rebounders for the team, while Sue Collier and Janet Polk lead in pass interceptions. With continuous practice on skills and plays, the season proved to be both exciting and rewarding for every member of the team.

Debbie Harlan shoots for two points.

Although the JV won only four out of twelve games, they displayed skill, spirit and determination throughout the season. Many of their losses were by only a few points in the final quarter. With the experience they have gained during this season, they should make a large contribution to next year's team.

VARSITY SOFTBALL

The enthusiasm ran high as over seventy-five girls tried out for the varsity softball team. After final cuts Coach Birch got the girls into prime condition through skill practices and numerous scrimmages.

Several of the varsity players returned with much more experience and poise.

Miss Birch expected a rough ten games, but counted on the girls' experience to provide the skills needed for a successful season.

JUNIOR VARSITY SOFTBALL

Every day after school in the gym or on the blacktop in back of the school, the girls' softball team worked to improve their skills in bunting, fielding, batting, and base running. The JV was greatly encouraged and improved through the direction of their Coach, Miss Stacks, enabling them to have a successful season, especially because of the experience they gained.

INTRAMURALS

Students this year had the opportunity to participate in the keen competition offered by such widely varied activities as volleyball, gymnastics, basketball, and modern dance, through the physical education department's intramural program. Under the leadership of Miss Birch, we hope to include more activities next year, enabling many more students to take part in a greater variety of sport-related programs.

SCA

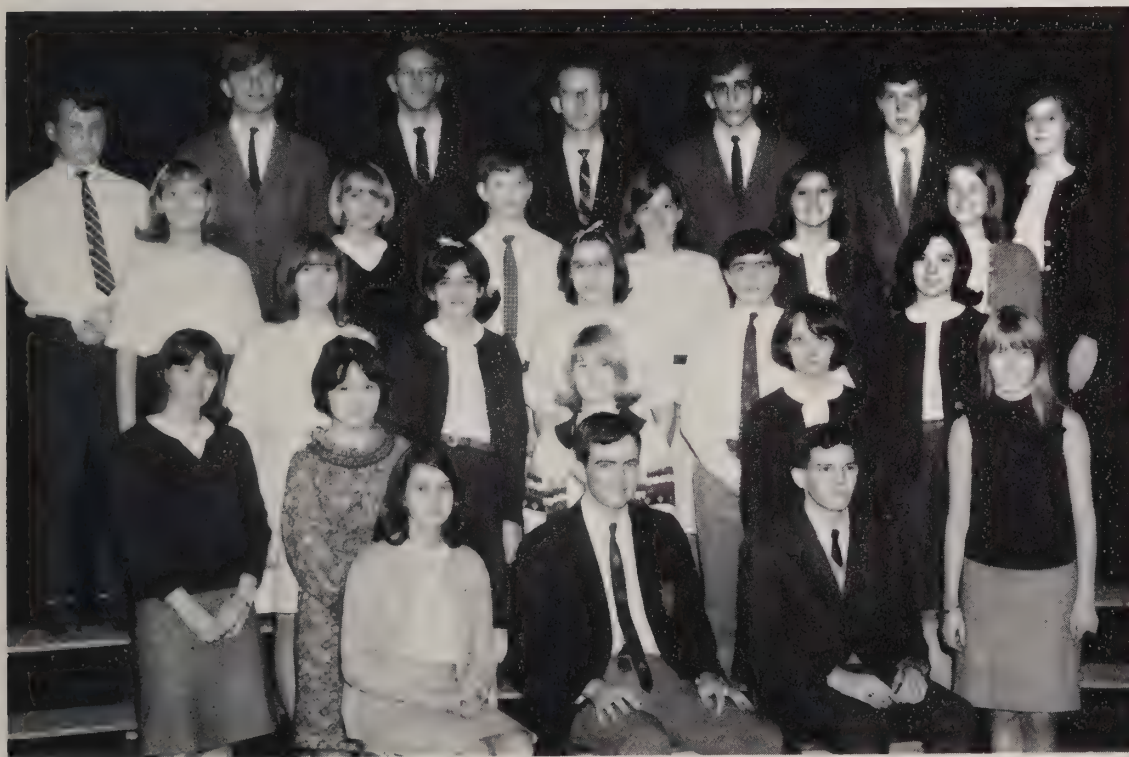

Discussing school problems, planning solutions, and considering social activities made the SCA a vital part of everyday life at Jefferson. In the House representatives from each homeroom introduced many projects hoping to fulfill the SCA's goal of cooperation. The activities were coordinated by the Senate (the presidents of all the organizations), so that there would be a variety of functions scheduled throughout the year. To acquaint students with the SCA we sponsored a successful Welcome Dance, an orientation for new students, the Fall Festival, and a Student Handbook. The final division of the SCA was the Cabinet, which carried out the projects decided upon by the House. All of these groups have striven to unify our student body into a true Student Co-operative Association.

CLASS COUNCILS

The class councils were made up of representatives from each English class. With the main goals of class unification and raising funds, each class tackled the problem individually.

Class assemblies brought the working of the class governments closer to the students; and in the spring served as a tool for the election of our future officers.

First row: Matile Maton, Carol Cooper, Revell Thompson. Second row: Pat Erickson, Patty Stevenson, Francis Marocchi, Debbie McDaniel. Third row: David Hall, Mike Straight, Mickey Todd.

NATIONAL JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

"Honor Society? Oh, you mean those characters with the horn-rimmed glasses and the arm-loads of books!"

The William H. Jordan chapter of the National Junior Honor Society by no means exemplified this impression of an honor society. Although energetically running a tutoring service for fellow students, the members found time to whole-heartedly support athletic events and social activities here at TJ.

NATIONAL SENIOR HONOR SOCIETY

The lighted candles flickered in the suspenseful silence of the hushed room. A lone voice slowly pierced the silence, calling several names; and every heart beat faster . . . a shining face radiantly happy, halting footsteps to an outstretched hand and the new members of the NHS were inducted. Only a wilted yellow rose and a fading memory are left of that day but to each of us it will be a dramatic moment, remembered and cherished.

But the induction was only one part of a busy year for the Honor Society. Food and clothing for a helpless family in Winchester, a scholarship fund for a deserving senior implemented by a tutoring service and a Christmas card sale, all proved the value of this hard-working organization.

KEY CLUB

Walking haggardly onto the field, we slowly began the tiresome, relentless job of picking up the seemingly millions of spots of color littering the area. The dew soaking our shoes, our backs aching from last night's escapades, the sun relentlessly beating down, though not yet unbearable, all were part of a day's work after a home game. This was but one of the many service projects we performed for the school this year.

At the start of the year we donated a flag-pole to our new stadium. Before each away game we posted maps throughout the school aiming to subtract a little of the confusion in the attempt to arrive at our opponents. We co-sponsored, with the Civitans, the canned food drive at Christmas, to help bring some brightness into a few Christmases that would otherwise be dark. And then, for the students of Jefferson, we presented the annual Christmas Dance, complete with waiters. The year was capped by the annual District Convention in the spring; and as the year closed we looked proudly back upon a record of dedicated service.

In accordance with the goals of our club, usefulness, assistance, and school and community improvement, the Civitans initiated several new projects and services this past year. These included providing waste recepticals for our new stadium, handling the parking at all the home football games, planting shrubbery and flowers on the school grounds, decorating the gym for Red and White Night, and sponsoring a successful Surf Dance. With the Key Club we also co-sponsored the Canned Food Drive at Christmas to help bring happiness into some otherwise dark holidays. Under the zealous guidance of Mr. Rihn, each member of the Civitan Club tried to provide an example of the qualities of citizenship needed for the future.

Bill Paule and Tracy Deihr paint the waste recepticals the Civitans donated jointly with the Key Club to our football field.

KEYETTES

Keyettes strove to develop initiative and leadership, prepare for useful citizenship, serve the school and community, and provide experiences in living and working with other people. The club of '65-'66 participated in various service projects for both the school and the community. Following the Keyette motto, "We serve," we tried to attain high qualities of leadership, character, and service through our concern and helpfulness for others.

The newly formed Civette Club, a Girls' Junior Civitan Club, was primarily a service organization. The members developed the characteristics necessary for unselfish citizenship and true leadership. By serving others and learning to co-operate among ourselves, we prepared for a more important place in business and community life. We strove to make our club an active and meaningful organization.

DEBATE TEAM

"I contend that the Jefferson High School Debate Team is and has been an active and worthwhile organization. To support this statement, I offer the following:

"First, in order to raise the funds needed to purchase materials, the team sold Jefferson banners; and had several bake sales.

"Second, the team was invited to participate in both the University of Virginia and the George Washington University conference on public affairs.

"Third, with the increase of membership, the team was enabled to hold pre-season debates after school.

"All of these activities broadened our interests and strengthened our team's list of accomplishments. It is for these reasons that I contend Jefferson's debate team to be an active and worthwhile organization."

Jefferson's hope of hosting a foreign exchange student rested on the shoulders of our club. Our first project was designed to arouse student interest in foreign exchange students. During American Field Service Week current exchange students held a most interesting discussion for the student body. Various activities were designed to acquaint us with the cultures of exotic countries. Then, in order to raise the necessary funds we sold handmade Christmas ornaments and candles. Throughout our activities we anticipated receiving our exchange student for '66-67.

SPANISH CLUB

Entering the Mexican restaurant, we delightedly found ourselves surrounded by the romantic atmosphere of Old Mexico. In this mood we spent an enjoyable evening munching tacos and practicing conversational Spanish. This was only one of the many field trips we took to Washington in order to take advantage of the cultural opportunities available in the capital. The Spanish section of the Art Gallery together with the South American and Spanish embassies were well patronized by our members. Through these field trips and speakers from several of the Latin-American countries we gained excellent information about our neighbors to the south.

FRENCH CLUB

Recognizing that there are numerous countries today with French cultural backgrounds, the French Club aimed at stimulating student interest in such cultures. Supplementing our program of normal inquiries into French customs were guest speakers invited throughout the year. The club activities included a festive Christmas party, French-style; presenting the school with a subscription of "Marie Claire", a popular French magazine; and the highlight of the year, a visit to a French restaurant in the spring.

GERMAN CLUB

With a long and varied history, today's Germany can qualify as one of the most culturally distinct countries of Europe. This wide variety of culture offered no difficulties in the perpetuation of our major objectives: to gain an understanding of the lives and attitudes of the German people.

In November we invaded the Bavarian

Restaurant trying to capture some of the spirit of the famous German Oktoberfest, a customary festival. A Christmas party and caroling was our next project as we wished everyone a "Frohliche Weihnachten!" But the highlight of the year came with our annual celebration of the colorful Fashingsball.

This, along with other numerous experiences throughout the year, greatly enlightened our German cultural knowledge.

Fifth row: Mary Weaver, Stephen Miller, Bruce Wesley, Bill MacKinnon, Gary Sutherland, Bill Dutton, Susan Donaldson, Kathy Moore, Ronnie Sue Lacy.

LATIN CLUB

The main hall was filled with the crushing and pushing of eager students. Amid the confusion we faintly perceived the high-pitched whine of a newly bought slave proclaiming, "The greatness of my master is unmeasurable! I bow before him, kissing his feet! Supplicatingly I command you in my eminent master's name to make way!" Dressed informally in an unconfining garment of yellow sheet, which hung limply to the floor, barely concealing worn sandals, the stalwart slave muscled his master's way through the crowd. Such was a typical scene between classes on the Latin Club's second annual Slave Day. The funds from this Slave Day financed our annual spring banquet. With the commencement of a Latin Honor Society, we ended a very successful year.

SCIENCE CLUB

Was it a beam or a ray? Was it modulation or frequency? Was it homogenous or heterogeneous? These were but a few of the questions delved into as Science Club members explored the fields of chemistry, physics and biology. Assisted by a carefully planned program of films, lectures and field trips we explored the principles of light, crystallization, sound and genetics, which increased our understanding of our habitat.

Our club, representative of those who were truly interested in science, made possible the many rewarding experiences that are found in scientific research. Especially helpful in donating their time and patience were the faculty of the Science Department, who aided us in our learning experiences.

HISTORY CLUB

The pounding of the wooden gavel resounded as the clerk announced the successful passage of GA-1, a bill proposed before our General Assembly, which was now "law."

Mimicking a democratic government we held party caucuses, drafted bills, presented them to our prime minister, discussed them in heated debate before the General Assembly, and voted upon them. The constant buzzing of several argumentative conversations, attempted filibusters, and excited political speeches were all very much a part of the political science portion of the meeting, and were by no means out of the ordinary.

We rounded out our programs with distinguished guest-speakers and interesting field trips.

The club very successfully fulfilled its purposes: to promote and encourage an interest in history and to increase an awareness of the historical forces that affect current affairs.

Prime Minister, Mike Iwanik, presides over the General Assembly of the History Club.

Surrounded by multitudes of paintings in oils, water color, and chalk, the floor littered with wood shavings, mounds of sculptured clay decorating tables, and draped in smocks splattered with color, our industrious artists worked to increase their appreciation and knowledge of art through numerous after-school sessions, culminating in our annual trip to a New York art exhibition. The new techniques learned in these periods of intensive study were displayed in fascinating bulletin board exhibits throughout the school.

ELECTRONICS CLUB

"Testing, 1,2,3, testing . . ." Slowly a clear, crisp voice broke through the loud static and a ham radio station began to broadcast from Thomas Jefferson High School. This event was the successful culmination of a year of hard work for the Electronics Club. Under the able leadership of Mr. Sisley, we plotted and planned the erection of an operating radio station as our major project for the year. This left only a short interval for our minor activities: films, instruction sessions, and a field trip. With the completion of this station we hope to have an even better project next year.

CHESS CLUB

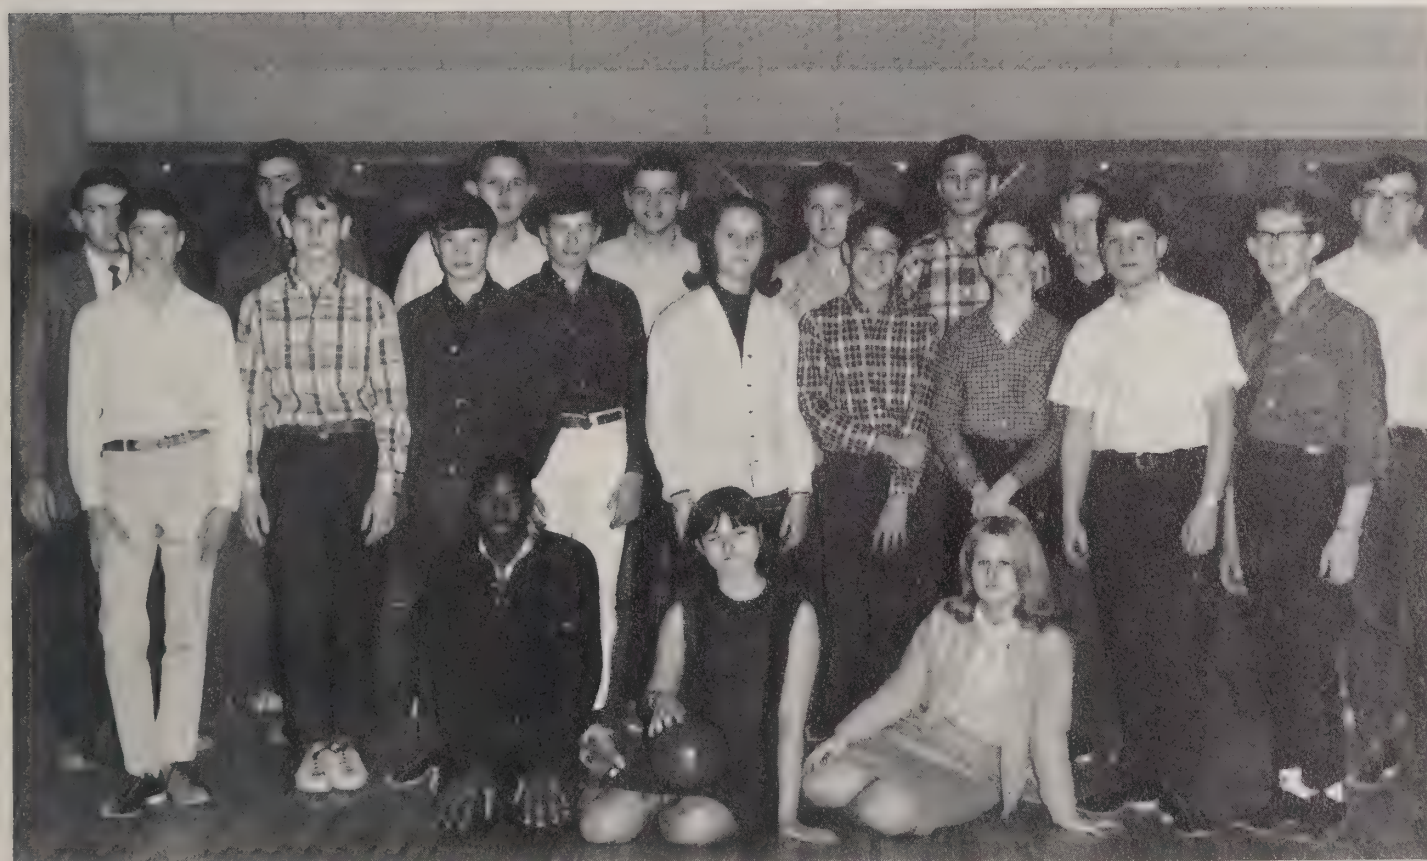

It was quiet as the players intently studied the board studded with white and black figures. A hand slowly and carefully moved the black knight in its peculiar pattern, and setting it down, exclaimed, "Checkmate!"

Such might have been a typical game intended to instruct novices or to provide practice for the members of the club.

Jefferson was represented in nine interscholastic tournaments, arranged by the Northern Virginia Scholastic Chess League, and in the Northern Virginia Individuals Tourney in May.

The club suffered from a shortage of men and money, but, under the able sponsorship of Mr. Mumpower, persevered that the ancient and noble game might not perish from, and indeed glorify the name of, Jefferson.

BOWLING CLUB

FTA

Who said small children aren't fun? Future Teachers certainly think they are! By visiting neighboring elementary schools, we gained first-hand experience in the teaching and training of young minds, the dedication of the teaching profession, and the thrill of accomplishment.

We extended our services to the teachers by typing, grading papers, and assisting in many other ways, including waxing cars during faculty meetings and our biggest event, an unforgettable Christmas party.

The faculty's Christmas party sponsored by the FTA was a great success.

MEDICAL CAREERS CLUB

The theme of exploring opportunities in health careers was well carried out by the members of the Medical Careers Club. Field trips to the Georgetown University School of Nursing, the National Institute of Health, Johns Hopkins, and University of Maryland School of Physical Therapy showed the members the vast field open to any dedicated youth willing to enter it.

The most important event for us was Medical Careers Week in which, through an assembly, posters, and several speakers, we hoped to bring medicine and health more directly into the students' lives.

FHA

The Thomas Jefferson chapter of the Future Homemakers of America adopted two national projects for the year, "Individuality Counts" and "Your Neighbors Near and Far." The members participated in the Holiday Exhibit and Boutique, sponsored the Miss Jefferson Beauty Contest and Style Show, attended the state FHA camp at Morget's Beach, the state conference at Roanoke and a dinner honoring parents. During the year members worked on individual products such as photography, sewing, knitting, painting and art appreciation. Several future homemakers worked on home projects and so earned their Junior and Chapter degrees.

DRAMA

Amid flickering lights, mystery, and humor, our first production, "Bell, Book and Candle," offered an opportunity to many students to put their theatrical interests and talents to use.

"Knave of Hearts" was presented in February at Washington, D. C.'s Junior Village. It was our hope that we brought a bit of color and excitement to these children through the theater.

We were hosts to the other schools in the district for the One-Act Play Festival, also in February. The Thespians did much of the preparations for our entry in the festival.

The National Thespian Society, Troupe 2589, held inductions before Christmas, and so enlarged their membership to thirty deserving students.

The Spotlighters were organized and guided by Miss Goulde and the Thespians. Our activities channeled the energies and interests of our members, and gave new insights to their abilities as we encouraged participation in the different areas of the theater.

 Novgrod, Jon Jenkins, Don Jenkins.

DE CLUB

To prepare students for full-time work in the competitive world of employment, a Distributive Education Club was formed this year at Jefferson. Our main activity was participation in the business contests at the annual District Contest Rally. The club functions, along with classroom study and on-the-job-training, provided a full curriculum for each of our members.

QUILL & SCROLL

Who was it that left their ratty tennis shoes to what underclassman? The Quill and Scroll Honorary Society endeavored to record accurately each parting senior's "Last Will and Testament", and also attempted, in fun, to foretell what each and every senior would be doing ten years hence . . . care to speculate? The money raised from the selling of our publication was awarded as a journalistic scholarship to the most deserving senior.

The sixteen charter members held the annual inductions ceremony in February to acknowledge outstanding journalistic Jeffersonians.

The Quill and Scroll sponsored a Publications Banquet in the spring. Editors and their staffs for the upcoming year were officially declared at this time. With this banquet the society concluded its work for the year.

Susan Ray and Nancy Bullard work on the society's publication, "The Last Will and Testament."

THE TOWN CRIER

Students who wanted to form opinions about current school and national topics read the informative pages of the "Town Crier." Club and group activities, athletic games, and social events were all reported by a hard-working, tireless staff. Under the careful guidance of Mrs. Russell we were able to produce in our second year, a newspaper with wider coverage of activities, reaching more students, in an effort to portray the daily student life at Jefferson.

JEFFERSON JOTTINGS

A new year with a new outlook . . . two staffs with fresh and vibrant material—writing from satire to poetry to fiction, art media from the more conventional to collages and wood sculptures, photography for the first time. The literary-art magazine staff held numerous, heated reviewing sessions to select from an abundance of excellent contributions. Hectic weeks of rushing to the printer and back again followed—culminating in an awareness of having encouraged student thought and expression and an overwhelming pride in the finished product: "Jefferson Jottings."

Amid massive piles of deadline copy, copious layers of layouts, shredded eraser, and countless scores of pencil stubs, we hastily composed a eulogy to the over-worked, but never-tiring yearbook staff. In one room at the far end of Jefferson we hatched an endless stream of schemes and plots to create effective lay-outs, sell yearbooks and ads, write imaginative copy, and induce students to attend picture-taking sessions.

Unceasingly we persevered through deadlines, photographic mishaps, and snow blizzards, striving to capture among the pages of the JEFFERSONIAN those specially memorable moments of school life.

PEP CLUB

Even through their darkest hours the Colonials had the dauntless support of the Jefferson Pep Club. Under the sponsorship of Miss Shields, our small club worked feverishly making locker placards for all players wishing them victorious games. Tirelessly we plodded the halls, attaching numerous signs onto masses of uniform lockers.

Our activities however, were not limited to imparting confidence to Jefferson's athletes, for we also endeavored to instill and bolster student support for upcoming athletic events by constantly reminding them of our next games through posters and signs.

GAA

Whether selling refreshments at the concession stands during home athletic contests, selling fruitcakes at Christmas time, or shivering on a camping trip, the G.A.A. strived to promote friendship and good sportsmanship among our student body. At all the home sports events we worked arduously to earn the money necessary for the purchase of softball and hockey uniforms for the girls' teams. The year was climaxed by the annual Girls Sports Banquet in which each girl was rewarded for her invaluable service to Jefferson and the Physical Education Department.

PRESS CLUB

Releasing school news to local newspapers and radio stations for the purpose of promoting good public relations between our school and the community kept the Press Club extremely active throughout the year. One course in journalism and the publication of an article were excellent qualifications to prepare our members to act as correspondents for Jefferson.

MAJORETTES

Carol Henderson

Eileen Thompson

A whistle blew . . . the uniformed band began playing . . . and the majorettes performed for the first time in our newly lighted stadium. The impressive fire baton exhibition rounded out the ceremony to perfection. Each of the remaining home games featured a solo performance by one of the majorettes. Besides their presentations on the field the majorettes helped to liven parades, pep rallies, and basketball games with their expert twirling.

Above and beyond their school functions the majorettes performed in competitive matches in Winchester, Rockville and Charlottesville, bringing home to Jefferson numerous prizes and trophies.

SYMPHONIC and MARCHING BAND

Jefferson will probably never forget the band members' unending insistence to buy the World's Finest Chocolate! The Marching and Symphonic band helped sponsor this candy drive in order to raise money for uniforms and extra music. During the year the band also had several concerts, including participation in the Annual Band Festival. We made a fine showing at Annandale Days, Washington's Birthday, and the Winchester Apple Blossom parades. The most exciting event of the year, though, was our band trip to New Jersey, where the host band housed us in their homes. It was an enjoyable climax to a successful year.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We are indebted to many people in our school and community for their help in the preparation of this JEFFERSONIAN. We wish to express our thanks to the entire faculty and administration for their support, with a special thanks to the maintenance crew. We would like to acknowledge with thanks the always generous help and advice of our friend and neighbor, Mr. Charles Baptie, on the more technical photographic problems we encountered. We thank Mr. Richard Sakamoto, who donated the pictures of the varsity football team and the varsity cheerleaders. We wish also to express our appreciation for the superb services Mr. George Deal of Lamont Studios has rendered us, which have extended far beyond the requirements of our business contract with him. But our greatest thanks we reserve for our sponsor, Charles E. Brown.
